Rochester Site of General Synod

Rochester, New York is the site of the 13th General Synod of the United Church of Christ. To be held June 27 - July 1, 1981, the Synod will bring together over 700 delegates from 39 Conferences in addition to national staff personnel and visitors.

In addition to six proposed pronouncements, the Synod will consider four proposed priorities in the areas of faith, family life, peace and youth.

In addition to staff personnel, delegates for the Southeast Conference include Freda Brown, Henry Tuttle, Marlboro Roberts, Mary Marshall and Mark Frey.

Advance materials on all issues to be dealt with at the Synod have been forwarded to all Conference churches.

UN Calls 1981 International Year of Disabled Persons

The United Nations General Assembly has proclaimed 1981 as the "International Year of Disabled Persons." Worldwide, an estimated 450 million persons suffer some form of physical or mental impairment:

—Accidents, mostly at home, affect more than 20 million persons annually and leave 110,000 with permanent disabilities each year.

—Road accidents disable more than 10 million persons annually, often causing amputations, brain damage, paraplegia, and quadriplegia.

—Crippling diseases are still widespread, with leprosy alone attacking 20 million persons. Malnutrition-linked disabilities are common in poor countries, with 250,000 children losing their sight because of chronic vitamin deficiencies.

—Mental illness will be suffered by one out of ten human beings during a lifetime, often with long-term effects. Mental patients now occupy one-quarter of all hospital beds.

Time For Spring Planning

The basic resource for the local church's annual financial enlistment, Money for the Church's Ministries, has taken seriously two facts that have been repeatedly confirmed in many congregations:

—A church member who helps to decide what work the congregation will do in the coming year is more likely to give more to support that work.

—A proposed budget that includes the work that the congregation has decided to do next year is more likely to challenge members to give more than a budget that simply limits the work to what is in this year's budget.

Supplement Two of Money for the Church's Ministries details two alternative planning procedures for congregations that have not recently engaged their members in planning but wish to make a start. It identifies three additional alternatives for congregations that are ready to do advanced planning of program and budget.

The Basic Resourcebook of Money for the Church's Ministries, together with four supplements, is available at a cost of $6.00. Write: Literature Distribution Service, Stewardship Council, 1505 Race Street, Room 618, Philadelphia, PA 19102.

Call To Prayer Without Ceasing

In a letter to Conference Minister Emmett Floyd, Charles E. Cobb, Executive Director of the Commission for Racial Justice, United Church of Christ writes:

"For many months now the city of Atlanta, Georgia has gone through the horrible experience of having the lives of 25 or more of its Black children destroyed and-or missing. The agony of Atlanta is the agony of America, as a disturbing increase in violence dominates the American scene.

"Unquestionably, some of that which is happening can be attributed to a turning

CONFERENCE CORNER

Dr. Emmett O. Floyd

As we approach the Annual Meeting I find myself growing more excited. For one thing it is just sheer fun to have the opportunity of getting together. It is always good to see old friends and to have the privilege of making new friends. A Conference meeting has some features in common with a family reunion or a class reunion. Yet what we are about is exciting beyond the friendship level. We are a family — but we are a family bound together not by ties of blood and kin but by the ties of faith.

An Annual Meeting is an occasion to renew those ties. We hear how the various officers, boards and committees have been about their responsibilities. We gain fresh insight and inspiration as we hear about our fellow churches and their growth and activities. Old congregations and new congregations — all have a story to tell and good news to share with others.

We have the high privilege of being challenged to new tasks and renewed dedication. There is much to celebrate with the Southeast Conference. God has been good to us as a people. There is also much yet to be done for the sake of our God and His Kingdom. Christ calls us together in order that we might better serve the cause of the Gospel here and around the world.

I hope you share the sense of joy and excitement. While the invitation is mailed from the Atlanta office I believe it really came from God. See you in LaGrange!

away from the ultimate source of all of our strength, God. We are seemingly no longer a nation of prayer, a nation of communal concern and a nation of willing sacrifice.

"In the light of this tragedy, the Commission for Racial Justice is urging every Conference, Association, and local church to join in a call to "Prayer Without Ceasing," until the tragedy that is Atlanta's has been brought to an end and a prayer consciousness in the nation has been restored. We are asking that all churches respond to this Prayer Call and continue throughout the end of this tragedy and beyond so that never again will any community suffer the anguish of Atlanta at this time."

East Alabama Youth Meet

The first of four yearly Youth Rallies sponsored by the East Alabama Association was held March 28 at LaGrange, GA, United Congregational Christian Church. Youth and adult advisors were present from Forest Home, Huguley, Lowell, Oak Grove, Phenix City First, Pleasant Grove, Rock Stand, LaGrange Hillside and LaGrange United churches.

Under the leadership of Rev. Roy Bain, chairman of the Religious Education Committee, the youth elected officers who were installed by Rev. Warren Blankenhorn, Associate Conference Minister.

Under new business, a number of suggestions for fund raising were explored, including participation in the Oak Grove Craft Fair. A new tent to be used in the Caravan Camping Program was displayed. Pictures of the past Mini-Camp at Laguna Beach were shown and a second Mini-Camp was announced for July 21 to August 2 at the Boy Scout Camp, West Point, GA.

Following a vigorous game of volley ball in the church yard, refreshments prepared by the ladies of the church were enjoyed.

Boat People Receiving Care

The two children pictured above and their extended family fled from Vietnam two years ago — as "boat people." Now settled in San Francisco, by means of a resettlement program supported by Protestant churches in the area, including the United Church of Christ congregations, these children and their family are beginning to adapt to their new life.

For this family, however, the warm welcome they received in San Francisco was marred by deep tragedy on their long journey to the United States. The children's grandfather was separated from the rest of the family during their escape, and they still don't know where he is. Their grandmother, mother and father, and other brothers and sisters make up their family now, but the grandfather is sorely missed.

The children, and all their siblings except one, have Vietnamese names. The newest addition to their family, a baby brother who was born in the United States, is named Michael — a Western name given to him by his parents to affirm their hopes for their new future in San Francisco.

Has your church investigated what it can do to help a refugee family? Your help is needed — and appreciated!

CURT'S NUGGETS

From the desk of Curtis Schumacher, Pleasant Hill, TN:

So many Churchmen have an awfully low "pain threshold" when it comes to giving "until it hurts."

UCBWM Looks Into Future

The 171st Annual Meeting of the United Church Board for World Ministries was held in Reading, PA, November 9-12, 1980.

The theme of the meeting was "No Separate Future." The theme is indicative of the Board's work within various countries throughout the world. In our partnership with these countries, we are tying our future with their future.

During the meeting, the Board heard reports from our many missionaries serving our church around the world. There were filmstrip presentations, discussion groups and moments to share with our missionaries.

Of great significance to the Southeast Conference was the workshop on Budget Planning. Churches were urged to increase OCWM giving and OGHS offerings. It was demonstrated how church budgets have escalated in the last decade, but OCWM and OGHS giving decreased or remained about the same in most churches.

Dr. Emmett Floyd, President of the Board for World Ministries and our Conference Minister, would encourage all of our Southeast Conference churches to strive to improve our giving in OCWM and OGHS offerings. Furthermore, churches are urged to seek information about the work of the Board for World Ministries. Dr. Floyd and I are available to assist in spreading the work of the Board through printed materials, films or oral presentations.

AROUND THE CONFERENCE

United Congregational Christian, LaGrange, GA

From the Atlantic Ocean to the Mississippi River, from the Gulf of Mexico to the mountains of Tennessee, the Southeast Conference covers a broad expanse of territory. Contained within her boundaries are some 120 churches — widely dispersed — widely diverse in heritage and religious expression — and yet united in the conviction that the churches of Jesus Christ "may all be one."

One of the larger fellowships in the East Alabama Association is United Congregational Christian Church, UCC located in LaGrange, Georgia. True to its name, United is the result of a 1931 merger between First Christian Church (organized in 1900) and First Congregational Church (organized in a tent in 1909).

With 235 members on the church roll, United maintains a vibrant ministry, participating in ecumenical endeavors and playing an active role in the community of which it is a part.

Both men and women's groups play an important role in the life of the church. In addition to regular contributions to the West Georgia Medical Center, the two women's circles sponsor grocery showers for needy persons, provide fruit baskets for shut-ins, take an active concern in the youth of the church and contribute financially to special projects of the church.

The men's fellowship has been responsible for remodeling and maintainance of the church and recently purchased a van to be used with the youth and the aged.

Young people have a special place at United. With a special emphasis on outreach, young people bring a special offering forward each Sunday designated for the Elon Home for Children. United believes that children need to be taught that the Christian life involves both giving and receiving.

One of the most recent projects of the church was an installation of a vertical lift beside the front door of the church enabling the handicapped and the aged to enter the sanctuary.

Rev. Roy Bain is pastor of the church.

Last Call For '81!

Each year the Morgan-Scott Project for Cooperative Christian Concerns, located in Morgan and Scott Counties, Tennessee, asks for youth and adults to give of their time, talents and treasures. Called a "Work-Study Group," participants are invited to do the physical work of mission throughout Morgan and Scott Counties. Work includes: painting houses, patching roofs, building chimneys, repairing porches, re-doing wiring, replacing and glazing windows and fixing doors.

Each Work-Study group consists of 15-20 people (couples, families and individuals) who — for one week — are willing to learn the customs, worship, and recreate with the people of the area as well as labor for Christ's sake.
